

Crash Pad Information

Last Modified on 06/30/2020 9:42 am MDT

A crashpad is an apartment or house generally intended for sleeping between work trips and while on Reserve if you live outside of base. To be clear, the airlines don't have any outside of base. To be clear, the airlines don't have any involvement with this, you do it privately.

There are two main categories for a crash pad:

- Hot Bed: The bed is shared meaning other crew members may sleep in it while you are not there.
- Cold Bed: The bed is all yours and you can leave your sheets on it.

Crashpad Websites

There are many different websites and Facebook groups that advertise crashpads.

- Crashpad411.com
  - Crashpads.com
  - Crashpadjoe.com
  - Blockedinncrashpads.com
  - Tripadvisor.com
  - Chicagocrashpads.com
  - Ordcrashpads.com
  - Crashpaddenver.com
  - Renedenvercrashpad.com
  - Facebook.com/crashpad
  - Flight Crew Specials @ McCarran International airport
  - Lvcrashpad.com
  - Crewmatescrashpads.com
  - Talkairline.com
  - Phlcrashpad.com
  - Phillycrashpad.com
-